

Rediscover your past

Written by John Carson

Friday, 17 April 2009 12:37

Dear classmates,

You can't escape your past. You can ignore it, downplay it and even forget it for a while, but it is always there. It's a part of you.

And so, Easter Mass at St Patrick's brought a rush of memories for me, some as early as 1956. Sitting between my sister Ann and Carol Sholtus, we watched from the second row as the Archbishop welcomed St Patrick's back as an active parish with a repaired 110 year old church.

St Pats was a big part of my early life, from birth through 8th grade. Our shared experience at LaSalle, is also something I cherish. I wager you have fond memories too. I ask you to revisit our past and enjoy it again at the reunion of 2009. Our gathering, eleven weeks away, is our chance to build some new memories.

Please take a few minutes to share a little glimpse of what you treasure about LaSalle and our class of 1969. Share it via your profile, a blog message or an image. If you enjoy reading classmate postings and comments, please pass on this spirit and be a participating member. The more recollections we share, the more fun this can be.

Please see some of the St Pats Easter images that helped me rediscover my past. I'll bet you'll see something that jogs your memory too. This link is a Shutterfly site. View as a slide show, it takes less than a minute.

<http://share.shutterfly.com/action/welcome?sid=8CcsWrVyyasQi&emid=sharshar&linkid=link5&cid=EMsharshare>

John Carson